The story behind Event United

Event United: born from the idea of bringing people together

The story behind Event United, told by its founder

A few years ago, I moved to the Netherlands. By that time, I had already spent many years working in the event industry, but starting my professional journey in a new country made me see the industry from a completely different perspective.

When you move to a new market, you quickly realise how much your professional network matters. The connections you have built over the years are suddenly far away. You have to start again, introduce yourself, build trust and create new relationships.

That experience made me recognise two challenges that almost every event professional faces.

How do you make yourself visible and find new clients?

And just as importantly, how do you quickly find the right partners and suppliers when organising events, especially across different countries?

In our industry, everything moves fast. Decisions often need to be made yesterday. There isn't always time to search through dozens of websites, ask around or spend hours looking for the right contacts.

As I started attending industry exhibitions and networking events across Europe, I realised how valuable face-to-face connections truly are. But I also felt that something was missing: one accessible online space where event professionals could connect, discover opportunities and find the people they need.

That's how the idea for Event United began taking shape in 2023.

At first, I imagined a marketplace for event professionals. A place where everyone, from an independent photographer to an international hotel group, could showcase their services and be discovered by potential clients.

But as we developed the platform, our vision grew.

I realised we could create something beyond a supplier directory: an entire online ecosystem for the event industry.

A space that brings together professional connections, business opportunities, industry knowledge and practical tools to make event planning easier.

Today, Event United is growing across the Benelux region, with our community gradually expanding throughout Europe. We welcome venues, agencies, independent professionals and companies of all sizes.

While our main focus is on B2B events, the platform is also accessible to private clients looking for event services.

I believe that in today's world, valuable information and professional contacts shouldn't be hidden behind unnecessary barriers. The real value lies in making connections easier, saving time and creating opportunities.

Our goal is to give every event professional, regardless of the size of their business, the chance to be seen, connect with clients and become part of a wider professional community.

And that's exactly why we chose the name Event United.

Because I believe that when we come together, we create more opportunities for everyone.

When we come together, we create more opportunities for everyone.

Four European cities to watch

Event United started in the Netherlands, and we are growing step by step across Europe. These four cities have a lot to offer for your next event, team trip or conference.

Valencia Spain

> In Valencia you walk in ten minutes from a medieval silk exchange to the white, futuristic City of Arts and Sciences. In between lies an old riverbed that is now a nine kilometre park, right through the city. Winters are mild, so dinner outside works in February too. And paella comes from here: lunch among the rice fields of Albufera is a programme item in itself.

Copenhagen Denmark

> In Copenhagen people swim in the harbour and ski on the roof of a waste plant. The city shows that sustainable can also be fun, which makes it a strong fit for meetings with a green story. Almost everything is within reach by bike, from the coloured houses of Nyhavn to the locations on the water. End the day with New Nordic cooking, which started here.

Eindhoven Netherlands

> It does not have to be far. In Eindhoven the old Philips factories at Strijp-S are now halls for launches, dinners and creative events. In October Dutch Design Week draws visitors from all over the world, and in November the GLOW light festival colours the city centre. If your event is about technology or design, the story is already in the city.

On the platform: WestCord Hotel Eindhoven.

Antwerp Belgium

> Antwerp starts on arrival: its Central Station is seen as one of the most beautiful in Europe. Then come the fashion district, the diamond district and the MAS museum, with a rooftop view over the port and the river Scheldt. The city is compact, so a group can do everything on foot. Historic halls and old port warehouses give an event a Flemish character of their own, and afterwards a good table is never far.

On the platform: Numa Incoming Travel Agency, a DMC for all of Belgium.

For every provider who joined in 2026

There from the start

Every provider who joined Event United in 2026 is a founding member. You gave a new platform a chance when it was just starting out. This badge is yours. We will add it to your pages.

New for providers this year

Are you a provider on Event United, or thinking about joining? This is what was added for you this year.

Build your page faster

Paste the link to your own website and get a first draft of your page: texts, details and a choice of photos. A wizard then helps you further step by step, and a meter shows how complete your page is. We are building in AI to assist you with your texts. You always decide what is published.

Pay per request

Providers choose for themselves: pay per request, or a monthly subscription with which requests are not paid separately. The first request is free and a monthly fee is not required.

Easier to find

Your page now also appears on a page for your city, which search engines can index. There is also a ready-made link to put on your own website.

In two languages

Your page is translated automatically, in Dutch and English. More languages follow as we expand to other regions.

See how your page is doing

Statistics per page show the views, requests and favourites. Each page also gets a score and a short list of what would help most, such as more photos or a price.

Report a fake request

A request that turns out to be spam can be reported with one click in your account. We look at it, and then it does not count.

Thank you.

A year ago, Event United was an idea and a lot of late evenings. Today it is a platform with real venues, real people and real events behind every page.

That is because of you. Every provider who trusted a new platform with their name, and every organiser who sent us that first request: you turned something we believed in into something that exists.

Behind every event are people who care about getting it right. We see that every day, and it is why we keep building.

We wish you warm and restful holidays, a table full of people you love, and a new year with plenty to celebrate.

See you in 2027.

With gratitude,
